

Chardonnay for Your Skin

Are you getting your Vinotherapy? I am ...

If you know me, you know that food and wine are a major part of my life! I even have a few grape vines growing in my little backyard. I also lead a life that is just plain hard on my hands; between flying trapeze, cooking, catering and dishes, dogs, cats and horses, my poor hands don't stand a chance. It is a constant battle to keep them moisturized. I've tried many products, but frankly hadn't found one that I really loved – until now! And its perfect for me, because it even includes Chardonnay! So now I am not only drinking my wine, but applying it externally as well.

Chardonnay Pear Essence Body Butter is produced by Wine Country Naturals, a Northern California-based company that specializes in "Vinotherapy." Making a line of all natural skin care products with botanicals, wine grapes, and grapeseeds, the products are packed with beneficial ingredients and antioxidants. That's all well and good, but the way it feels is what really has me hooked. Light and non-greasy, it feels amazingly rich! My hands (and elbows, knees and feet) have been thanking me everyday. I have even tucked a second jar into my catering box, so I can get my fix even while working.

Wine Country Naturals makes three other vinotherapy products: Zinfandel Currant Essence Mud Masque, Cabernet Plum Essence Salt Scrub and Chardonnay Honey Essence Hand Lotion.
